SAR Information Statement

Your Tablet is a radio transmitter and receiver. It is designed and manufactured not to exceed the emission limits for exposure to radiofrequency (RF) energy set by the Federal Communications Commission of the U.S. Government. These limits are part of comprehensive guidelines and establish permitted levels of RF energy for the general population. The guidelines are based on standards that were developed by independent scientific organizations through periodic and thorough evaluation of scientific studies. The standards include a substantial safety margin designed to assure the safety of all persons, regardless of age and health. The exposure standard for Tablet employs a unit of measurement known as the Specific Absorption Rate, or SAR. The SAR limit set by the FCC is 1.6 W/kg. * Tests for SAR are conducted with the Tablet transmitting at its highest certified power level in all tested frequency bands. Although the SAR is determined at the highest certified power level, the actual SAR level of the Tablet while operating can be well below the maximum value. This is because the Tablet is designed to operate at multiple power levels so as to use only the power required to reach the network. In general, the closer you are to a wireless base station antenna, the lower the power output. Before a Tablet model is available for sale to the public, it must be tested and certified to the FCC that it does not exceed the limit established by the government adopted requirement for safe exposure. The tests are performed in positions and locations (e.g., at the ear and worn on the body) as required by the FCC for each model. The highest SAR value for this model phone when worn on the body, as described in this user guide, is 0.75 W/Kg (Body-worn measurements differ among Tablet models, depending upon available accessories and FCC requirements). The maximum scaled SAR in hotspot mode is 0.81 W/Kg. While there may be differences between the SAR levels of various Tablet and at various positions, they all meet the government requirement for safe exposure. The FCC has granted an Equipment Authorization for this Tablet with all reported SAR levels evaluated as in compliance with the FCC RF exposure guidelines. SAR information on this Tablet is on file with the FCC and can be found under the Display Grant section of <http://www.fcc.gov/oet/fccid> after searching on FCC ID: 2AHZ5TKK. Additional information on Specific Absorption Rates (SAR) can be found on the Cellular Telecommunications Industry Association (CTIA) web-site at <http://www.wow-com.com>. * In the United States and Canada, the SAR limit for Tablet used by the public is 1.6 watts/kg (W/kg) averaged over one gram of tissue. The standard incorporates a substantial margin of safety to give additional protection for the public and to account for any variations in measurements.

The SAR test distance is 0mm.

A. Safety measures for users and non-users

Non-use of the device in certain situations (while driving) and certain places (airplanes, hospitals, gas stations and professional garages).

Precautions to be taken by wearers of electronic implants (pacemakers, insulin pumps, neurostimulators, etc.) concerning in particular the distance between the device and the implant (15 centimeters) and the position of the device. During the call on the side opposite the implant.

B. Advice for use to reduce the level of consumer exposure to radiation (e.g. Keep the device away from the human body during night rest or set it to flight mode, etc.).

Recommendation of the use of the device in good reception conditions, to reduce the amount of radiation received (especially in an underground car park when travelling by train or car...).

Indication of the parameters for good reception (e.g. display of four or five bars on the screen).

Recommendation to use a hands-free kit and, in this situation. Precautions to be taken when Communicating: keep the device away from the abdomen for pregnant women or from the lower abdomen for teenagers.
